LAST week's issue of our valued contemporary, the Albany Star, looks as if a drove of mules had traveled across the forms just before going to press. We do not know what caused it to be so terribly defaced, but suppose some accident happened to the press while the paper was being run off and it was not discovered until the entire edition was printed. We sympathize with the Star and hope it may be spared any further accidents of such a serious na-

Ninety-nine persons out of every one hundred would rather see a good to hundred would rather see a good to have a sensilipart of north Texas!

There is one sufficient answer to the above, and that is that there is not a seintilla of truth in the whole article, so far as it relates to any opposition on the part of the GAZETTE, to the location of a branch of the supreme court at Dallas. The GAZETTE defies the Times or any one else to point out a single utterance, paragraph, sentence, line, word or syllable which justifies the assertion it makes against the forther are always laying in wait when you go to pull an ear of cora or pick up a stick of stove-wood.

Fort Worth is a city of about 12.00 inhabitation of about 12.00 inhabitation for the part of north Texas!
